TOTAL MAJORITY MAY BE 40,000

Drys Carry All But Four Cities and Sixteen of the Counties.

HEAVY VOTE POLLED.

Cities Spring Surprise by Going Wet by Small majorities—Eighth District is Reported Close.

Richmond, Sept. 23— State-wide prohibition won in Virginia yesterday by a majority of from 35,000 to 40,000 votes, carrying all but four cities and sixteen counties. The result is decisive, and will set at rest for some time to come the State's policy on a question that has been a prominent factor in Virginia politics for many years, and which has time of the last three sessions of the taken up the major portion of the General Assembly.

Returns today show a complete victory for the advocates of State-wide prohibition, both in the cities and country districts, the complete returns for the twenty cities in the State giving the prohibition side a majority of 1,315. The four cities opposing State-wide prohibition were Richmond, Norfolk, Alexandria and Williamsburg.

Returns from the counties were received with remarkable promptness and accuracy. Complete returns are given from forty-one counties, majorities only, but with practically complete figures from twenty-seven sixteen report with only one precinct missing and thirteen sent only scattering returns.

The total majority for State-wide prohibition is now 30,384. This will almost certainly be increased by the later returns from the missing precincts. The total vote probably ran to from 145,000 to 150,000, though exact figures are not yet available.

The surprises of the campaign were the comparatively small majorities piled up by the local option forces in Richmond and Norfolk and the overwhelming dry sentiment in the Ninth Congressional District.

Notwithstanding Governor Stuart's announcement that he would vote against State-wide prohibition, his home county, of Russell went dry by 672. Lee, Scott, Washington, Wythe, and other Ninth District counties followed with heavy majorities for State-wide prohibition.

Norfolk County, which has enjoyed a "wide-open" reputation for some years, fell into the dry column by more than 500 votes. The dry lead on the Eastern Shore was overwhelming, and in Rockingham, where it had been reported that a factional fight on former Senator Keezell might have some effect, as he had announced his intention of voting dry, the county piled up a dry majority of more than 2,000.

Reports from all sections of the State indicate that the election was orderly and without the emotional features which were so notable a part of the voting in North Carolina and other States on this issue.

Among the city returns the victory of the State-wide forces in Roanoke and Petersburg, caused greatest comment. Only a few years ago, in a local option election, Petersburg returned a good majority against prohibition. Danville and Lynchburg have both been dry at times by the vote of their own people.

Until complete returns are compiled from the various counties it will not be practicable to tabulate the congressional districts, it is evident, however, that the dry forces have carried all except possibly two or three, the Third and Fifth being apparently in the local option column on the face of incomplete returns from Pittsylvania and other counties.

EIGHTH DISTRICT.

Culpeper, for 426, against 261; Fairfax dry majority of 220; Fauquier, for 759, against 691; King George, for 446, against 415; Louisa

"You may safely say that the mass of the Japanese people believe that war with the United States is inevitable. Throughout Japan there is an intense hatred of the American people." This statement was made yesterday by Baron Wilhelm Freiherr von Schoen, who has just arrived in Washington from Tokyo, where he was secretary of the German embassy.

The Rome correspondent of the London Star says the Servian and Montenegrin troops have occupied Sarajevo, which was abandoned by the Austrians after overwhelming defeat. Sarajevo is the capital of Bosnia. It is a fortified town of some 27,000 inhabitants. It was here that Archduke Francis Ferdinand, heir apparent to the Austrian throne, and his wife were assassinated shortly before Austria declared war on Servia.

Sir Cecil Spring-Rice, the British Ambassador, has complained to the State Department about the activity of German organizations in the United States, and has asked an investigation into the report that certain of the organizations of a military character are preparing for a war-like action against Canada in the event of a decisive defeat for the allied powers on European battlefields. The Ambassador informed the Secretary of State that he believed the headquarters of the societies contemplating such operations is in Cincinnati. The State Department has ordered an investigation on the complaint.

Secretary Daniels, of the Navy Department, makes it clear that he does not propose to allow litigation in the courts to interfere with the enforcement by the United States government of neutrality at all wireless stations. Robert Ford, local representative of the Marconi Company, called on Mr. Daniels and was shown a copy of the opinion by Attorney General Gregory setting forth that the President had absolute right to censor messages or close stations whenever he deemed it necessary for the preservation of the country's neutrality.

Joseph Fish, a carpenter, was shot and killed yesterday afternoon by Miss Susan Thompson, at her home, Thompson Corners, near Clarksburg, Md. The weapon used was a shotgun. Immediately after the tragedy Miss Thompson surrendered to Justice of the Peace James E. Day. Miss Thompson told the authorities that she shot Fish in self-defense. Fish had formerly boarded with her, and, she said, had several times forced his attentions upon her. On one occasion, she asserted, when she repulsed him he struck her.

ADMIT DEFEAT AND PROMISE SUPPORT

Members of Self-Government League Accept Results Pleasantly.

WANT LAW ENFORCED.

Provision of The New Law—Eliminates Saloon From State—Spirituous and Malt Liquors Barred.

Richmond, Sept. 23—At the headquarters of the Virginia Association for Local Self-Government a large crowd gathered last night to watch the returns as they were chalked up on a large blackboard. The disappointing tale told by the ticker made little inroad upon the good spirits of the assembly. The size of the majority caused surprise, but the result was accepted goodnaturedly as the inexpected that is always a possibility in popular elections.

At 11 o'clock the association issued the following statement:

"The returns indicate that State-wide prohibition has been carried by a majority of about 30,000. It is clear that the people of Virginia desire to give the law a trial.

"This association was founded to oppose the enactment of State-wide prohibition in Virginia. Its members held the conviction that the law did violance to the principle of local rule which is the foundation of our State government. The association believed morever, that State-wide prohibition would not serve the ends of true temperance as well as the local option system at present in force, which permits each community to settle the liquor question in accordance with the will of its local majority.

"The association still adheres to this belief. The voters of Virginia, or at least a large majority of them, appear to hold different views. They have recorded their verdict in favor of State-wide prohibition and against the retention of the present local option system.

"The men who compose this association are first of all patriotic Virginians, and as loyal citizens of this State they will lend their best efforts in assisting to make the new law effective.

"This organization made a clean fight and lost, and has, therefore, nothing with which to reproach itself. It waged its campaign on the issue itself and conducted its fight dispassionately. It avoided personal issues and abused no one whose views differed from its own. The defeat is accepted in good spirit.

"The association desires to extend its thanks to the thousands of Virginians who rallied to its support in the campaign just closed. Many of these gave lavishly of their time and effort to assist the association in its educational campaign and justly deserves the gratitude of every citizen of the Commonwealth."

The prohibitive provisions of the enabling act go into effect on November 1, 1916.

On and after November 1, 1916, it will be unlawful for any person, social club, firm or corporation, to manufacture for sale, or purchase for sale, transport for sale, dispense or otherwise dispose of any spirituous vinous, fermented, distilled, or malt liquors, or intoxicating bitters within this State, except for medicinal, scientific, sacramental or mechanical purposes as may be allowed under provisions of such acts as the General Assembly may pass at its next regular session.

Persons or firms now engaged in this State in manufacturing wine and its by-products other than brandy, and such other by-products manufactured from grapes, berries and fruits as contain no greater percentage of alcohol than wine, are permitted by the enabling act to continue manufacturing the products so manufactured are sold in packages of not less than two and one-half gallons or one dozen bottles, and delivered to a common carrier to be transported outside the State of Virginia into territory where they may be legally sold.

Manufacturers now engaged in making malt liquors containing not more than 3 1-2 per cent alcohol (the chief product of this character is beer) are permitted by the act to continue the manufacture of such malt liquors, provided they are sold in packages of not less than five gallons or not less than two dozen bottles, and delivered to a common carrier to be transported outside the the State of Virginia into territory where they may be legally sold.

The act in no way interferes with the present laws governing the manufacture and sale of cider.

"Any persons, social club, firm, or corporation," the act provides, "so manufacturing, selling, dispensing, or disposing of any spirituous, vinous fermented, distilled or malt liquors shall be liable for all the penalties now or hereafter prescribed for manufacturing, selling, dispensing, or disposing of ardent spirits without a license."

ITALIANS ANXIOUS TO FIGHT.

Thousands Offer to Join British Army.

Rome Sept. 23—No more convincing proof of the ardent wishes of the Italian people to fight Germany, and Austria could be imagined than that afforded by a scene yesterday at the British embassy, when offers were received from thousands of Italians eager to be allowed to fight in the ranks of the British army. This striking manifestation was the sequel to the remarkable demonstration of the previous evening when more than 200,000 persons outside the embassy shouted "Long live England" and cheered the British flag. Not only have fiery young residents of Rome proffered themselves in battalions to fight for England, but staid old firms also approached the embassy with offers to provide steamers and other facilities for the transport of troops and provisions. The embassy of course, was obliged to decline the offers.

Rome, via Paris, Sept. 23.—A dispatch received here from Lyons, France, says that 5,000 Italian volunteers under Gen. Giuseppe Garibaldi, son of Gen. Ricciotti Garibaldi, have received their red shirt uniforms, and are leaving for an unknown destination to attack the Germans. Gen Ricciotti Garibaldi has received a message from his son saying that Canadian Italians intend to raise a regiment to aid the allies, and declaring that he would be delighted to incorporate this body into his own "red shirts."

EFFECTS OF WAR.

Restaurant Man in New York Says Patrons Carry Sugar Home.

The high cost of living has laid its hand on the much persecuted shoulder of the restaurant man, and that individual has been forced to shout "assistance!" says the New York Telegraph.

"What am I going to do?" inquired one, and then the reason for his moan came in a plaintive key.

"I love my patrons but friendship and platonic affection ceases when they begin to take all the sugar I have. The other day I took an inventory of the stock of this establishment and I found that my patrons were using fifteen and eighteen lumps of sugar to every cup of coffee or tea that was consumed. I knew that could not be true, and I put a watch on my help thinking that some one was stealing the sugar I saw none of my help go near the barrel, while the sugar continued to go at the same rate.

"So I watched my customers. Many of them never used sugar in their coffee or tea before this war, and now they dig into the bowl and take out a large hand full of the lumps. Do you think they put any into their coffee or tea? No they put the lumps into their pockets and take them home.

"The war and the high cost of living are responsible. People taking their lunch, downtown feel that they cannot afford to buy sugar for the family so they let the restaurant men furnish it. What am I going to do? If I catch them and tell them to put it back they do not come here for their lunches any more and if I let them keep on taking it I will be broke soon."

VON KLUCK'S ARMY SAID TO BE CUT OFF

German Right Declared to Have Been Cut by the Allies.

OUTNUMBER GERMANS

Over One Million French and British Soldiers Face Invaders—Drive Enemy Back in Confusion.

Bordeaux, Sept. 23—The positive declaration that the flank of the German right wing has been turned and that Von Kluck's army is in danger of being cut off was made at the war office today.

It was stated that while re-enforcements are being rushed to his rescue from Belgium they will not be able to alter the situation. They will not be able to prevent the German right being encircled and forced either to retreat in haste toward Belgium or meet an attack from all sides by an army of vast superior forces.

The British and French columns now outnumber the Germans two to one in the western section of the line. There are more than 1,000,000 French and British engaged in the battle along the entire front and nearly half that number held in reserve should they be needed.

Although the fighting in the neighborhood of Rheims continues without interruption, it is stated that the French are now occupying a much better position. They resisted a night German assault in force last night driving the enemy back in great disorder.

The bombardment of the French postion continues, with the Germans using their heaviest artillery. It is believed that under cover of this fire they are already withdrawing the major portion of their forces.

The Germans are making a desperate effort against Verdun and the lower lines of the forts in an effort to reduce them, but the official reports reached here say that all are still intact.

Summing up the entire situation, it was stated at the war office today that it has never looked better since the commencement of the war.

Murdered Woman Had Killed Divorced Husband in 1910.

San Francisco, Sept. 23.—John Murpheson, a billard ball proprietor, shot and killed his wife and himself here yesterday in a hotel. Mrs. Murpheson gained notoriety in June 1910, by shooting and killing her divorced husband, Reese Prosser, on a railroad train at Libby, Montana. Prosser, an automobile salesman, had obtained a divorce two weeks previously and was on his way to Cleveland, O., where he came from a well known family. The woman was tried in Montana and acquitted. Soon afterwards Mrs. Prosser married Lloyd E. Scott, who divorced her in 1911, at Bloomington, Ill.

BULL CHARGED GERMANS.

Killed Eighteen Before it Was Finally Dispatched.

Paris, Sept. 23.—The Petit Parisian prints a story of a bull which it says killed 18 Germans. It appears that when the peasants in the neighborhood of Sezanne were warned of the approach of the Germans they opened the gates of the cattle pens and endeavored to drive the cattle to a place of safety. One enormous bull, it is said, becoming enraged by the sound of the cannon fire, broke away and charged the Germans, who looked on in stupefaction, believing it was some trick of the French. At the first dash the bull gored six, throwing them high in the air. Others shot and wounded the animal, which, however, gored a dozen more before succumbing.

BRITAIN THIRSTS FOR VENGEANCE

Nation Exasperated at Sinking of Armored Cruisers by Germans.

1,500 MEN DROWNED

Report That Two of Enemy's Submarines Were Sunk by English Not Confirmed by Admiralty.

London, Sept. 23—Demands for speedy vengeance on the Germans for their exploit in sinking three British armored cruisers are voiced by most of the newspapers today. It is suggested that while England has many times as many submarines as have the Germans, they have yet failed to demonstrate their worth.

Fantastic stories of their penetrating into German harbors are circulated. None have been confirmed. But as a result of the agitation now going on in every part of England, it is believed these craft will now at least make an attempt to even the score.

England was still without details of the Cressy, Aboukir, and Hogue tragedy today. It seems certain not less than 1,500 of the 2,100 members of the crews have perished. It is apparently established that the disaster took place only a short distance from the Hook of Holland, as many of the survivors have been landed at Muiden Holland, for trans-shipment to England.

Although it is unofficially stated that two of the submarines were later sunk by the British destroyers, there is no confirmation of this report. The admiralty still claims that it is without details of the disaster, although these are expected to be sent by Admiral Jellicoe today.

BRITISH CRUISERS SUNK.

Two German Submarines Also at Bottom of North Sea.

London, Sept. 23.—Three great armored British cruisers, the Aboukir, the Hogue, and the Cressy, with hundreds of dead, and two German submarine boats are at the bottom of the North Sea, following the second naval engagement of consequence in the war. In the battle three of the five attacking German submarines escaped, according to survivors of the cruisers, who were landed at Ymuiden, Holland, but the quick fire of numerous English guns sank the other two.

The Aboukir was torpedoed first, and then as her sister cruisers, the Hogue and the Cressy approached to pick up the survivors, their hulls were ripped open by torpedoes shot from the German submarine, which probably slipped under the war vessels.

As the Aboukir arose out of the water and then crashed down, listing heavily and almost instantly, it was known that a great hole had been torn in her hull and that she was sinking.

It was believed for several minutes that she had struck a floating mine, according to survivors, and the Hogue and the Cressy moved in closer to pick up the men in the water. Quickly it became apparent that the cruisers were in the midst of a school of German submarines that had sneaked in among them.

WAIT FOR THE VERDICT

King Street in Front of the Gazette Office Densely Packed Last Night.

The announcement that the election returns would be received at the Gazette office last night caused many people, male and female, to gather on King street, between Fairfax and Royal. Sidewalks on both sides of the thoroughfare in front of the office were soon packed with humanity, and as the crowd increased in dimensions they gradually filled the roadway. Electric trains, with their gongs sounding and automobiles croaking incessantly threaded their way at a slow gait through the dense throng. Nothwithstanding so many persons herded at this section the best of feeling prevailed. Squads of policemen were in the neighborhood ready to stop any disorderly procedures, but their services were not needed. The crowd seemed to be about equally divided. When the man behind the megaphone announced a wet victory there was much applause, but when the figures indicating prohibition victories were uttered there was equally as great manifestations of satisfaction.

The tremendous victory for the wets in Alexandria had been anticipated. The judges had comparatively little to do, and the results of the election in the city was soon known.

The returns from the principal Virginia cities were most eagerly anticipated. At first the figures cast a temporary gloom over the friends of prohibition, but this scattered when the announcement was made that Richmond had gone dry, but by a smaller majority than had been expected. Norfolk, too had failed to meet the expectations of the wets, and when it was seen that Lynchburg and Roanoke were in the dry column the expressions of glee on the part of the prohibitionists were great.

Intelligence from county after county was given out, in which it was shown that the drys were several thousand in the lead. As the hour grew later the fact that Virginia had gone dry by an overwhelming majority was apparent, and the crowd began to melt away.

While the greatest earnestness was manifested during the day, the contest was conducted in a quiet manner. There were practically no disorders, and but few animated disputes were noticeable.

There were neither women nor children around the polling places, There was a prayer and song services from 6 until 9 o'clock in the morning at Trinity Methodist Episcopal Church under the auspices of the W. C. T. U. Bells in the Baptist Church tower were tolled each hour while the polls were open calling upon all Christians to pray for the success of the State-wide prohibition cause. Both sides started in early in the day to get out a big vote, and automobiles and other vehicles were kept busy until sundown conveying voters to and from the polls.

The anti-prohibitionists won by more than three to one the wets polling 1,121 votes and the drys 358.

The vote by wards in the city follows: First ward for prohibition 108, against 235; Second for prohibition 92, against 279; Third for prohibition 96 against 256; Fourth, for prohibition 62, against 351.

The results in the city had never been in doubt, and is practically what had been anticipated by both sides. Alexandria county, however, which had been claimed by both sides went to the drys by a majority of 165. The total vote for prohibition in the county was 426 and for local option 261. The vote by magisterial districts in Alexandria county follows: Jefferson for prohibition 62 against 70; Arlington, for prohibition 258, against 109; Washington, for prohibition 106, against 82.

RETROCESSION TALK

Some Disappointed Alexandrians Want to go Back to the District of Columbia.

A Washington paper yesterday suggested that should the prohibitionists succeed in carrying Virgima, the large majority in Alexandria who were averse to the change might agin consider the advisability of favoring the retrocession of the city to the District of Columbia. While the paper doubtless made the suggestion in the spirit of pleasantry, some people in this city last night were disposed to take it seriously, and talked much of the imaginary good such a move would be to Alexandria. We hope they are clothed in their right minds today.

Retrocession generally breaks out among certain disappointed people, and when they find themselves on the losing side they want to shake the dust of the Old Dominion. We hope no one will leave our city, but at the same time those who cannot endure conditions under prohibition have our best wishes should they desire to cut loose from us, but we are violently opposed to them carrying us with them. Like the Local- Self Government League in Richmond, we accept the results good-naturedly and will lend our influence towards accomplishing the purpose of the majority. We may love our political creeds, but in the words of a great one of old, we love Rome more.

The Gazette has since 1846 been unalterably opposed to retroceding Alexandria to the District of Columbia, and we prefer to believe no good citizen, suffering from political disappointment will aid by word or deed in creating dissatifaction with our present conditions under the government of our beloved State.

SHOOTING AT MONROE.

Killing of John T. Edwards in Pool Room in Monroe.

As has been stated in the Gazette, John T. Edwards, white, a resident of Alexandria, and car inspector of the Southern Railway, was on Saturday night, about 12 o'clock, shot and almost instantly killed and about half a dozen others cut and slashed in one of the bloodiest difficulties ever heard of in Amherst county.

The trouble is said to have started near E. B. Mantiply's livery stable where a cutting scrape was engaged in. After this things quieted down but broke out afresh when the parties reached the pool room. There had been some drinking it was stated, and Edwards seems to have been shot by a bullet which was aimed at Buddie McIvor. In the general fight, chairs, billiard cues, bottles and everything else that could be grabbed seem to have been used as weapons.

A coroner's jury decided that the man came to his death by a bullet fired from a pistol which was found in the possession of Herbert Shelton.

George Viar was discharged, Roy, Saint, Harry and L. D. McIvor were bailed in the sum of $500 each and Herbert Shelton was sent to Amherst jail to await a preliminary hearing before a justice.

Edwards' remains were prepared for burial by Daniel's undertaking establishment of Lynchburg and later were taken to his home in Alexandria.

OLD VIRGINIA IN THE DRY COLUMN.

The people of the Old Dominoin during the last half century have lived under the stars and stripes, the stars and bars, military rule, carpet-bag and negro domination, read-justicrism, etc., and it is not to be supposed that any will commit suicide now that a large majority, in their wisdom, have declared for statewide prohibition. The great mass of her people are not dipsomaniacs and they will suffer no inconvenience during the time this new order of things may be in vogue.

We have no disposition to reproduce arguments which have been threshed over and over during the past summer, but cannot help exclaiming, Shade of George Mason, defend us!

While most of the cities of the commonwealth, we believe sensibly, gave majorities against statewide prohibition, the bulk of the counties of the state went dry, most of them being already in that column. It was naturally expected that the cities would be snowed under by the rural vote. Unfortunately in the history of legislation the rural districts hold the whip handle, not only in Virginia, but in the great state of New York as well. Cities, no matter how great, or what they may have at stake, must bow to the will of their country friends.

The Gazette bows to the will of the majority. We believe in the doctrine that the state is sovereign and that the people should rule. They have spoken; that is an end to the vexatious controversy. But now that the prohibitionists have gained the day, it is hoped that they will use their power to such an extent as to make Virginia dry not in theory, but in fact. It has been stated in this city that prominent members of the organization will form vigilance committees and see that the law is strictly enforced. So mote it be.

In the mean time tax-ridden Virginia will be called upon to devise ways and means of meeting a great deficit in her revenues. This, we hope, will also be accomplished satisfactorily, while our home city, already staggering under obligations for public improvements and exercised as to how she may meet what is required of her, will be more exercised under conditions which will surely cause her representatives to retrench and keep abreast of the times under a regime the benefits of which are still to be proven.

GODDESS STILL MASQUERADING.

Reference was made in this column to the appearnce in a Richmond paper of the Virginia coat of arms with the Goddess of Liberty in a new garb. Instead of having her foot upon the tyrant she had it upon the neck of an advocate of local self-government. The same paper today has the goddess represented as an angel bringing tidings of joy to all men by reason of the prohibition victory yesterday. Let us hope she will remain in the shape presented today, and not as fierce as Bellona, as was the case yesterday.

PREACHER ARRESTED.

Rev. John Cavnaugh Gets in Trouble in Allentown, Pa.

Rev. John Cavnaugh, who has been a familiar figure in Alexandria during the past third of a century, and who for several years was pastor of the Free Methodist Church, was in Alexandria yesterday. He made a flying visit, but while here announced his presence by delivering exhortations on the streets.

About a week ago the preacher, who is stationed at White Haven, Pa., made his appearance at Allentown, and was arrested while speaking on the street in violation of a local ordinance. He was later released on a bond of $100, furnished by a prominent citizen of Allentown. Several other residents of the city offered to go bail for Mr. Cavnaugh. The charge preferred against him was insulting people on the streets and obstructing highway. The case came before the Police Court next morning, but we do not know what disposition was made of it.

GERMANS SACRIFICED.

Invaders Mowed Down by French—Nine miles of Dead in Trenches

Paris, Sept. 23—Wounded soldiers who are commencing to arrive here from the region of Craonne describe the battle there Sunday and Monday as having been deadly for the Germans, who, they say, were sacrificed without apparent reason by their officers. Though pushed back with great slaughter, some of the wounded say, the Germans returned again and again, only to be mowed down by the French. One entire regiment, it was declared was wind out, and when the French took possession of the field they found 1,000 wounded left by the Germans. Trenches that had been carefully prepared for resistance of the allies' advance were filled with dead. A superior officer among the wounded estimated the German losses in this engagement alone at 7,000.

London, Sept. 23.—The Daily Mail's correspondent reports that the German right has been turned between Peronne and St. Quentin. He says that during Sunday night wounded have been arriving at an unnamed place. They report there are 9 miles of dead in trenches between those two towns.

New York, Sept. 23.—Mr. and Mrs Henry de Sibour, of Washington who were in France before the war broke out, were among the arrivals yesterday on the Leeland. They were marooned at Belford for a time, but finally reached Paris after passing through the country, where much of the early fighting occurred. On one field he said, he saw squares of dead German Soldiers. Those on the outside had fallen, but the bodies toward the center of the squares were standing upright leaning against each other. Officers told him, he said, that the machine guns were responsible for this wholesale killing.

Mrs. de Sibour declared a near relative of her's who is an officer of an English railroad, had told her his line had transported 250,000 Russian troops across England. This relative also told her, Mrs. de Sibour said, that the steamship Aquitania was used to transport the troops of a remote point of the coast of France where they were landed through the surf by small boats.

H. C. Smith, tailor, 919 King street, Alexandria, says: "I hope my statement will be the means of getting other sufferers to use Doan's Kidney Pills and be cured as I was. I couldn't begin to tell the agony I endured from my back. I didnt find anything that would cure me until I used Doan's Kidney Pills. They made me well in less than a month and during the past two years, I have had no trouble. The endorsement I gave Doan's Kidney Pills at the time the cure was made, holds good."

Ready, Ky.—"I was not able to do anything for nearly six months," writes Mrs. Laura Bratcher, of this place, "and was down in bed for three months.

I cannot tell you how I suffered with my head, and with nervousness and womanly troubles.

Our family doctor told my husband he could not do me any good, and he had to give it up. We tried another doctor, but he did not help me.

At last, my mother advised me to take Cardui, the woman's tonic. I thought it was no use for I was nearly dead and nothing seemed to do me any good. But I took eleven bottles, and now I am able to do all of my work and my own washing.

I think Cardui is the best medicine in the world. My weight has increased, and I look the picture of health."

Peanut Factory Burns.

Suffolk, Sept. 23.—Fifty thousand dollars and upwards is the disastrous fire loss in Suffolk Monday night when at 8 o'clock fire broke out in the mammoth five-story peanut factory of the John King Peanut Company, the great cleaner being a total loss.

Only the most heroic work on the part of the firemen, who, three times had to come down from the smoking roof of the adjoining four story storage warehouse, saved that and the Holland-Lee storage warehouse nearby. The John King Company burned out one year ago, but bought the Columbian Peanut Company's plant for $67,0000, and began operations there eleven months ago.

CHARGED WITH BEING SCOLDS.

Two Hagerstown Women Held for Grand Jury.

Hagerstown, Md., Sept. 23.—On the charge of being common scolds, the penalty for which under an old statute is a ducking in a stream of running water, Mrs. Elizabeth Painter and her daughter, Mrs. Margaret Hale, were arrested here Monday night by Sheriff O. W. King and held for the action of the grand jury by Justice D. W. Doub.

Seventeen men, women and children testified at the hearing that Mrs. Painter and her daughter were chronic scolds. Mrs. Hale's husband furnished bail for their appearance at the November term of the Circuit Court.

A dispatch from Geneva says reports from Basel declare that rioting occurs daily in Vienna and Berlin, that shops in streets occupied by the poorer classes are looted for food and that many women have been shot down in an attempt to quell the mobs. The dispatch also denies the statements issued in Berlin as to the war loan being over subscribed and asserts that appeals have been made to Italian and Swiss banks for help.
